

New Training Option for Zulu Software Customers

June 15th 2009. MindCross Training announced that they have been selected by Zulu Software as their exclusive training partner. MindCross will supply Zulu's customers with the training necessary to effectively maintain their converted legacy system software.

"Zulu's primary focus is helping clients using Software AG's legacy technology migrate their applications to a more current, open technical platform. Since MindCross has over 20 years training experience with that technology, combined with expertise in areas such as Java and Visual Basic.NET, we think we're uniquely positioned to help the legacy programmers update their skill sets" said Scott Hutton, Training Director for MindCross. "We can put the new technology in terms and concepts that clients are familiar with".

Courses include both standard and customized offerings. Examples of the standard offering include: "C# for Legacy Programmers", "Java for Legacy Programmers" and "Understanding the Zulu Framework". Each of these courses builds off of the programmers existing programming knowledge.

In addition, client specific technology and applications can be added into the training mix. This allows the students to be able to start maintaining the converted applications much more quickly and confidently.

"We're looking forward to helping the legacy programmers and DBA's get rolling quickly with the new technology" added Hutton.

About Zulu Software

Zulu Software is dedicated to automating the process of converting and migrating existing mission-critical applications from outdated legacy technologies to contemporary, more powerful, open, and cost-effective platforms and architectures. In January 2006 BluePhoenix Solutions became the majority shareholder of ZULU SOFTWARE. This ownership extended the initial investment and alliance agreement signed in February 2005 that gave BluePhoenix the right to sell and market Zulu Software tools and services.

About MindCross Training

Established in 2001, MindCross is a boutique provider of innovative learning solutions for enterprises large or small. MindCross is dedicated to helping you create the training that's important to you. We treat our clients and partners the same as we'd treat our own internal projects -- with the utmost care and dedication possible.